

JUNE'S GOOD-BY ON RAREST OF DAYS

Month of Roses This Year
One of the Coolest of Which the Weather Bureau Has a Record.

Breeding and cool as a day in early spring is the last day of the month of roses, which this year will be known as one of the coolest of which the history of the Weather Bureau.

One year ago to-day the thermometer registered 100. Twelve persons died of the heat and fully a hundred were prostrated and carried to the hospitals. Really warm days have been rare this June. The heat was only once as high as 80. The usual June scorcher failed to put in an appearance and the changes of temperature were equable. The normal temperature of the month for twenty-five years past has been 69 degrees, but this year the average will be fully one degree below that. Overcoats have been reasonable throughout the month and last night they were a necessity. The glory of the straw hat man and the shirt waist girl has been persistently frostbitten.

A more glorious day than this could hardly be imagined, but the apology was necessary after yesterday, when a two inch rainfall was registered, the downpour being continuous from 8 o'clock until twilight. The rainfall for the month reached the enormous record of six inches—almost 100 per cent. above the normal.

Rain and cold weather have been general throughout the country for several days. Crops in the central West are endangered by the continued rains. Several lives were lost by cyclones in Indiana and Tennessee.

LITTLE BOY KILLED IN BIRTHDAY RIDE.

George Rupert's Three-Year-Old Son Was Pitched Into the Street and the Wheels Crushed His Head.

It being the third birthday of George Rupert his fond father took him out for a ride this afternoon. In a few moments the wagon came back to the Rupert home at No. 588 Humboldt street, Brooklyn. The father was driving with the mangled body of the little boy lying across his lap. As the wagon rolled on, the father, who was driving, placed the little fellow on the seat beside him. About a block from the house a rough place in the street was encountered, the wagon lurched and the father pitched to the ground. Before the horse could be stopped the wheels had passed over the head of the child, killing him instantly.

"TRIUMVIR" MURPHY AND HIS BRIDE THE GUESTS.

Tammany Leader's Secret Out and Anawand-das Make Merry with Newly Wed Couple.

MRS. CHARLES F. MURPHY

Charles F. Murphy, the Benedict Triumvir of Tammany, back from his wedding honeymoon at Atlantic City, was only less honored than his charming bride as a guest at the annual excursion of the Anawand-Club, of which he is the patron saint, to-day.

Mr. Murphy, having got all the fun he wished out of the mystery of who the lady was he had honored with his name, brought her back to town to be immediately recognized by a host of friends as Mrs. Margaret Graham. They were sweethearts as children, more years ago than any one would give the boyish-faced chairman of the Tammany Triumvirate credit for.

Body of William Jones Recovered.
The body of William Jones, of No. 3 Duane street, who was a prisoner in the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, was found to-day opposite Riker's Island, in the East River. Jones, while at work on the dock of the island on June 24, fell overboard.

when he was an east side boy and she a rosy-cheeked schoolgirl. Her family moved away.

She became Mrs. Scully. Later she took Mr. Graham for a second husband, and now, as charming as in the days when she first met "Charlie" Murphy, she has become Mrs. Charles F. Murphy, whose husband has carved out a fortune as well as risen to the practical leadership of Tammany Hall.

The Anawandas, of the Eighteenth Assembly District, went to Laurelton-on-the-Sound for the day, where Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were honored. The couple will live at No. 309 East Seventeenth street.

BEAUTY HAS SOME STRANGE NOTIONS.

Russian Girl Believes Herself
a Noted Singer and Fairer Than Venus—Held in Bellevue Pavilion.

A beautiful young Russian girl was to-day taken from the Baron de Hirsch Home for Girls on East Sixty-third street to the insane pavilion at Bellevue Hospital for examination as to her sanity. The girl declares herself more beautiful than Venus and believes she is a distinguished opera singer.

She gave her name as Fanny Schurman and her age twenty-two years. She is believed to have a brother in this city, who lives, or did live, on Madison avenue.

Miss Schurman came from Russia a year ago.

While waiting in the reception-room at the hospital she talked freely in broken English. She said that she had sung before royalty and could not understand why the American people should be so unappreciative. "Listen, and I'll sing for you," she said, and then sang several airs in a sweet soprano voice, which showed evidence of cultivation.
